

HYMNS for the
CHRISTIAN LIFE

NOVEMBER 3, 2013

EVENING WORSHIP WITH
KEITH & KRISTYN GETTY

DEAR CHURCH FAMILY AND GUESTS,

It is a great pleasure to have you in worship and to experience the 2013 tour of Keith and Kristyn Getty: Hymns for the Christian Life. We welcome visitors in the love of Christ and pray that you will feel at home on our campus.

The influence of the Gettys on church music in this century has been tremendous. With the release of their first hymn, "In Christ Alone," they have continued to create hymns that I believe will have an impact on many generations to come.

As a lifelong church musician, I appreciate their artistry, their faith, and their commitment to glorifying God with their gifts and utilizing them in such an excellent way.

I hope you are richly blessed by the music and the wonderful affirmation of Christ's love for us. We pray that this worship service at Second Presbyterian Church is a testimony of God's work among us and that you will feel welcome and embraced.

In Christ,

KEITH & KRISTYN GETTY

Heralded as modern hymn writers, Keith and Kristyn Getty are known for songs that transcend traditional church boundaries, uniting the voices of people all over the world.

With music that is equally at home in urban strip-mall churches and the ancient stonewalled Canterbury Cathedral, and has been performed in Nashville's legendary Ryman Auditorium and London's Royal Albert Hall, the Gettys occupy a unique space in the Christian music community.

Within this space, the couple has embraced their calling to provide the church with songs that are theologically substantive yet uplifting and easy to sing. "From the start, we've always written for the congregation," says Keith, who started writing for his church at age 25. "We try to write melodies that any congregation could pick up and because of our folk classical style, they can often be used in both contemporary and traditional churches."

When the pair first met, through an introduction by her uncle, Kristyn was interested in music, poetry, and writing. "Keith kindly agreed to let this young 18-year-old come by and talk about singing," says Kristyn. "At that point, I hadn't even thought about writing songs. Keith was the one who untapped the song-writing world for me."

Several years later, Keith and Kristyn, both Belfast natives, began dating and eventually married. A few months after, they were invited to become music ministers at a church in Geneva, Switzerland, where they remained for a year. "It was really a great year for us both personally and creatively," Keith says of 2005. "Hymns like 'O Church Arise' were written that year and we did a children's project too."

Feeling led into a new season, they then moved to the United States, first to Ohio, then on to Nashville a few years later, where they currently live. They've since released four acclaimed albums including In Christ Alone (2007), Awaken the Dawn (2009), Joy: An Irish Christmas (2011), and Hymns for the Christian Life, a 2012 collection that musically explored the intersection between Irish music and American folk and bluegrass and featured friends Alison Krauss, Ricky Skaggs, and Moya Brennan. Regardless of the project, Keith and Kristyn feel their work offers them a special way to affect the lives of others.

"When people leave church, they don't go out singing the sermon; they go home humming and singing the songs," says Kristyn. "As songwriters, it's a phenomenal opportunity to be a part of creating a feast of thought and imagination and beauty and challenge that can be a part of feeding the body all week long."
